The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Tuesday October 12. to Saturday October 16. 1731.

Dublin, October 2.

YEsterday the Regiment of Horſe commanded by Major-General Naper, and the three Regiments of Foot now on Duty here, were reviewed in His Majeſty's Park the Phœnix near this City, by his Grace the Lord Lieutenant, attended by the General Officers; her Grace the Dutcheſs of Dorſet, and a great Number of Perſons of Quality and Diſtinction of both Sexes being preſent. The Regiments made a very handſome Appearance, and performed every Part of their Exerciſe with the utmoſt Exactneſs; and the Foot went through all their different Firings with the greateſt Regularity. After which, his Grace returned on Horſeback from the Park to the Caſtle, attended by the General Officers and others, where a moſt magnificent Entertainment was prepared by his Grace, at which were preſent all the Generals and Field Officers then in Dublin, with many other Perſons of Diſtinction; and her Grace had a Drawing-Room at Night for the Ladies.

Dublin, October 7.

On Tueſday the 5th Inſtant the Parliament having met according to the Prorogation, his Grace the Lord-Lieutenant went in State to the Houſe of Peers, and being ſeated on the Throne with the uſual Ceremony, his Grace ſent for the Commons, and made a Speech to both Houſes, who unanimouſly reſolved upon humble and dutiful Addreſſes to his Majeſty, which were this Day preſented to his Grace.

[Price Three Pence.]

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I Should be far from deſerving the high Station in which his Majeſty hath placed me, and ill anſwer his Royal Intentions, if I did not meet you here with the warmeſt Heart and ſtrongeſt Inclination, to do every thing in my Power that may contribute to the Honour, Welfare, and Intereſt of this his Kingdom. And I have taken, and ſhall take every Opportunity of giving the moſt ſolid Proofs of my Zeal for your Service.

The experienced Loyalty of this Parliament leaves me no room to doubt, but that all your Conſultations will be carried on with that Duty, Temper, and Unanimity, which alone can make them ſucceſsful: And I have it in Command from his Majeſty to aſſure you, that you cannot do him a more acceptable Service, than the preparing the Heads of ſuch Bills as may tend to continue, increaſe and eſtabliſh your own Happineſs and Proſperity.

I ſhall leave it to your Conſideration, whether any farther Laws may be neceſſary to prevent the Growth of Popery, and to ſecure you againſt all Dangers from the great Number of Papiſts in this Kingdom.

You will likewiſe conſider, what farther Encouragement may be given to the Flaxen and Hempen Manufactures; Branches of Trade, which not only employ the Poor, and may in time leſſen their Number, but by your conſtant Attention to them under his Majeſty's Favour and Protection, (on which you may entirely depend) will prove a great and undiſputed Source of Riches to this Country.

At

At the ſame time, I have it in Charge to recommend to you the finding out ſome more effectual Methods, to prevent the illegal Exportation of Wooll into Foreign Parts. This pernicious Practice is highly injurious to the Trade and Manufacture of Great Britain, and of no real Advantage to your ſelves. In its Conſequences, it very much encourages the clandeſtine Running of Goods, to the great Diminution of the publick Revenue, and to the Ruin and Deſtruction of the honeſt and fair Trader.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

It is with Concern, that I find ſo great a Deficiency in the publick Revenues. I have directed the proper Officers to lay before you the Eſtimates and Accounts in the plaineſt and cleareſt Manner. And I doubt not but you will chearfully and moſt effectually make the neceſſary Proviſion for the Debt due to the Eſtabliſhment, and for the Support of his Majeſty's Government, under which, your own Intereſt and Happineſs, Religion and Liberties, can alone be ſecure.

You may be aſſured that I ſhall take the utmoſt Care, that the Supplies ſhall not only be moſt frugally applied to the Purpoſes for which they are intended; but that they ſhall, as much as is poſſible, be ſpent amongſt your ſelves. To which End, I can now with Certainty acquaint you, that his Majeſty hath been pleaſed to order two of the Regiments upon this Eſtabliſhment, in Service abroad, to be immediately brought back to this Kingdom: And, from the happy Circumſtances of Affairs in Europe, I have the greateſt Reaſon to hope that the other will ſoon be recalled.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

It is a great Satisfaction to me to be able, at my firſt meeting you in Parliament, to acquaint you, that from the juſt Succeſs with which the Wiſdom of his Majeſty's Councils and Negociations hath been attended, we have now the moſt reaſonable Expectations of enjoying all the Advantages and Bleſſings of a general Peace, which, by the Increaſe it will bring to your Trade, and the Encouragement it will give to your Manufactures, muſt neceſſarily contribute to the Removal of thoſe Difficulties you at preſent labour under.

His Majeſty in his great Goodneſs conſiders it as his higheſt Glory, to make all his Subjects happy; and, in his tender Concern for this Kingdom, deſires nothing more earneſtly, than to ſee you in that Condition. And I ſhall eſteem it my greateſt Honour to obey his Majeſty's Commands in concurring with you in every thing that may beſt promote that End; and the Accompliſhment of it will be the greateſt Satisfaction I can poſſibly receive from my Adminiſtration.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament aſſembled, beg Leave to return our moſt humble Thanks to your Majeſty, for thoſe gracious Expreſſions we have received from the Throne, of your tender Concern and earneſt Deſire for the Happineſs of this your Kingdom; and for the Aſſurance given us, that we cannot do any thing more acceptable to your Majeſty, than the preparing the Heads of ſuch Bills as may tend to continue, increaſe, and eſtabliſh that Happineſs.

And we take this Opportunity to congratulate your Majeſty on the juſt Succeſs which hath attended the Wiſdom of your Councils and Negociations, whereby we have the moſt reaſonable Expectations of a general Peace; which by the Increaſe it will bring to our Trade, and the Encouragement it will give to our Manufactures, under your Majeſty's Favour and Protection, muſt neceſſarily contribute to the Removal of thoſe Difficulties we at preſent labour under, and to the Accompliſhment of your Majeſty's gracious Deſires and Deſigns towards us.

We can in grateful Return, only give your Majeſty the ſtrongeſt and moſt ſincere Aſſurances of our inviolable Duty and Affection to your Majeſty and your Royal Houſe; and of our ſteady Reſolution to make uſe of the Opportunity your Majeſty hath put into our Hands, by the happy Circumſtances of Affairs in Europe, to promote the Proſperity of your Subjects, and the Security of your Government.

In purſuance of this, we ſhall heartily concur in the paſſing ſuch Laws as ſhall be found neceſſary to encourage our Flaxen and Hempen Manufactures, and employ and leſſen the Number of our Poor; to prevent the illegal Expor-

Exportation of Wooll, and clandeſtine Running of Goods, which tend to the Diminution of the publick Revenues, and to the Ruin and Deſtruction of the fair Trader; and to ſtop the further Growth of Popery, and ſecure us againſt all Dangers from the Numbers and Inſolence of the Papiſts in this Kingdom.

Your Majeſty's good Subjects of Ireland, who muſt want that Happineſs which attends your immediate Preſence, cannot but expreſs their moſt ſenſible Acknowledgments of your Majeſty's extenſive Goodneſs, in committing their Affairs into the Hands of his Grace the Duke of Dorſet; whoſe known and approved Character leaves us no Room to doubt, but that in Obedience to your Royal Commands, he will juſtly repreſent your Majeſty, in continuing to do every thing in his Power that may contribute to the Honour, Welfare and Intereſt of this your Majeſty's Kingdom.

Your Majeſty's dutiful and loyal Subjects have nothing more or greater to add, than their moſt zealous Wiſhes and Prayers, that your Majeſty may long enjoy your true and deſired Glory in the Proſperity of your People, under your moſt juſt and gracious Adminiſtration, and that our lateſt Poſterity may have the ſame Happineſs tranſmitted to them, under Princes of your Majeſty's Illuſtrious and Royal Family.

En. Sterne, Cler' Parliament'.

The Lord Lieutenant's Anſwer.

My Lords,

I Will forthwith tranſmit this dutiful and affectionate Addreſs to His Majeſty.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Knights, Citizens and Burgeſſes in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament aſſembled, with Hearts juſtly ſenſible of your Majeſty's great Goodneſs to us, during the whole Courſe of your Reign, do on this Occaſion moſt gratefully acknowledge your Royal Favour in committing the Government of this Kingdom to his Grace the Duke of Dorſet, of whoſe ſincere Inclinations for our Proſperity, we are fully convinced, and whoſe great Honour and eminent Abilities in diſcharging the Duty of the higheſt Stations, leave us no room to doubt that he will take every Opportunity to promote your Majeſty's Service, and the Intereſt and Proſperity of this Nation.

As we hope that our former Conduct hath been agreeable to your Majeſty, we aſſure your Majeſty, that we ſhall, in all our Conſultations, endeavour to expreſs that Duty and Affection to your ſacred Perſon, and that Zeal for your Service and the publick Welfare, which may merit the Continuance of your Royal Approbation.

The great Number of Papiſts in Ireland, muſt at all Times juſtly alarm your loyal Proteſtant Subjects; and we ſhall uſe our beſt Endeavours to prevent all Dangers which may ariſe from them to your Majeſty's Government, or the Peace of this Kingdom.

As we are ſenſible that the Flaxen and Hempen Manufactures are the moſt valuable Branches of our Trade, and abſolutely neceſſary to the Support of this Kingdom, we ſhall conſider of all proper Methods to carry on and encreaſe them, and do with the greateſt Gratitude acknowledge the Encouragement given by your Majeſty to thoſe Manufactures, and in promoting them, depend entirely on your Royal Protection.

We think our Intereſt inſeparable from that of Great Britain, and ſhall endeavour, by all Methods in our Power, to prevent the clandeſtine Exportation of Wooll into Foreign Parts, ſo prejudicial to the Trade of that Kingdom; and at the ſame Time conſider of the beſt Means for the ſuppreſſing all fraudulent Practices that tend to the Diminution of your Majeſty's Revenue, and the Deſtruction of the fair Trader.

We aſſure your Majeſty, that (as far as we are able in our preſent Circumſtances) we ſhall grant ſuch Supplies as may effectually provide for the Debt of the Nation; and from the juſt Senſe we have that our Intereſt, Happineſs, Religion and Liberties depend entirely on the Eſtabliſhment of the Crown in your Majeſty and your Royal Houſe, chearfully ſupport your Government with Honour.

We moſt gratefully acknowledge your Majeſty's great Goodneſs in taking the preſent Condition of this Kingdom into your Royal Conſideration, and ordering Home two of the Regiments upon this Eſtabliſhment, now in Service Abroad; and we with the utmoſt Confidence aſſure ourſelves, that as ſoon as the Situation of Affairs will permit, you will be graciouſly pleaſed to direct the other to be recalled.

We beg Leave to congratulate your Majeſty on the near Proſpect of a general Peace, owing, owing, under the Divine Providence, to the Wiſdom of your Majeſty's Councils, the juſt Succeſs of your Negotiations, and your Royal Concern for the Liberties and Repoſe of Europe; and we return your Majeſty our moſt humble Thanks for your paternal Care to promote, on all Occaſions, the Happineſs and Proſperity of all your Subjects, and particularly thoſe of this Kingdom.

The Lord Lieutenant's Anſwer.

I Will, by the firſt Opportunity, tranſmit this dutiful and loyal Addreſs to be laid before His Majeſty.

To his Grace Lionel Duke of Dorſet, Lord Lieutenant General, and General Governour of Ireland,

The humble Addreſs of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament aſſembled,

May it pleaſe your Grace,

WE the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament aſſembled, humbly beg Leave to return your Grace our moſt hearty Thanks for your excellent Speech delivered from the Throne to both Houſes of Parliament.

It is with the greateſt Pleaſure and Satisfaction that we ſee your Grace placed over this Kingdom; and we eſteem it a ſignal Inſtance of His Majeſty's tender Care of us, that he has made choice of a Perſon of your Grace's Wiſdom and Goodneſs, as well as Zeal for the Proteſtant Religion, and hearty Affection to his Majeſty and his Royal Family, to entruſt with the Government of this Nation.

We cannot ſufficiently expreſs our Gratitude for that Warmth of Heart and ſtrong Inclination you bring with you, to promote the Honour, Welfare and Intereſt of this Kingdom; and the many Benefits we have already received under your Grace's Adminiſtration, give us the ſtrongeſt Aſſurance of all future Advantages from the Continuance of your Government.

And we hope our well-known and moſt ſincere Loyalty to his Majeſty, will always diſpoſe us to carry on our Conſultations for His Honour and the Good of our Country, with that Duty, Temper and Unanimity, which are the moſt effectual Methods to render them ſucceſsful, and to make your Grace's Adminiſtration eaſy.

We moſt thankfully own our Obligations to your Grace, for the great Encouragement you give us from his Majeſty, to conſider what new Laws may be moſt likely to continue, encreaſe and eſtabliſh our own Happineſs and Proſperity.

If any Thing be ſtill wanting in our Laws, to prevent the Growth of Popery, and to ſecure us againſt all Dangers from the great Number and Inſolence of Papiſts in this Kingdom, it will now be our own Fault, if thoſe Defects are not ſupplied.

The Advantages we at preſent receive, and the greater we may hereafter hope for, from our Flaxen and Hempen Manufactures, are ſo truly laid before us by your Grace; and the Aſſurances you give us of his Majeſty's Favour and Protection in carrying them on, are ſo full, that we ſhall be left without Excuſe, if we neglect to give every Encouragement in our Power, to thoſe valuable Branches of our Trade.

And we ſhall, in purſuance of your Grace's Recommendation, ſhew our Readineſs to prevent the illegal Exportation of Wooll to Foreign Parts, which is ſo much to the Prejudice of Great Britain, without any real Advantage to ourſelves, by chearfully concurring in any Laws that may be thought proper to prevent ſo pernicious a Practice.

We beg Leave to ſhare with your Grace, in that Satisfaction you expreſs at the juſt Succeſs with which the Wiſdom of his Majeſty's Councils and Negotiations has been attended, which gives us the Proſpect of a general Peace; ſo great a Bleſſing cannot but bring an Encreaſe to our Trade, and make our Manufactures flouriſh, which muſt gradually remove thoſe Difficulties we at preſent labour under.

It is to us of this Nation a ſenſible Benefit ariſing from the happy Circumſtances of Affairs in Europe, that two of the Regiments on this Eſtabliſhment, now abroad, are ordered Home; and we doubt not, but as ſoon as the State of Affairs will permit, his Majeſty will be graciouſly pleaſed, through your Grace's good Offices, to recall the other Regiment.

The Experience we have already had of his Majeſty's moſt mild and gracious Government, fully convinces us, that his Majeſty has a tender Concern for this Kingdom, and earneſtly deſires to make all his Subjects happy.

And

And it is with the utmoſt Pleaſure and Acknowledgment, that we receive your Grace's Aſſurances, that you ſhall eſteem it your greateſt Honour, in Obedience to his Majeſty's Commands, to concur in every thing that may beſt promote our Happineſs; and we ſhall make it our Endeavour, that your Adminiſtration may procure you the great Satisfaction you propoſe to your ſelf from ſo generous a View.

The Lord Lieutenant's Anſwer.

My Lords,

THE obliging Manner in which your Lordſhips expreſs yourſelves to me, lays me under the ſtrongeſt Engagements to continue my Endeavours for the Good of this Kingdom, and to deſerve your Eſteem, for which I have the greateſt Value.

To his Grace Lionel Duke of Dorſet, Lord Lieutenant General, and General Governour of Ireland,

The humble Addreſs of the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Grace,

WE his Majeſty's moſt Dutiful and Loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament aſſembled, do, with the greateſt Satisfaction, attend your Grace, to offer our ſincereſt Thanks for your excellent Speech to both Houſes of Parliament.

We beg Leave to congratulate your Grace upon your being appointed Chief Governour of this Kingdom, and to expreſs our Confidence, that the Welfare and Intereſt of this Nation will be maintained and promoted by your Grace's vigilant and wiſe Adminiſtration.

The Commons of Ireland very naturally conceive the greateſt Expectations from a Perſon, whoſe Birth intitled him to the firſt Diſtinctions of a Subject, and whoſe perſonal Honour and Integrity have raiſed to the higheſt Offices in Great Britain. And they have the ſtrongeſt Reaſon to hope, from your Grace's unwearied Endeavours for the Good of this Nation before your Arrival, that as you have long been the Ornament of one Kingdom, they ſhall find your Grace the Guardian and Support of another.

We are highly ſenſible of his Majeſty's Goodneſs in committing the Government of Ireland to your Grace, at a Time when the Nation is ſo greatly diſtreſſed by the Publick Debts and the Decay of Trade: We beg Leave to aſſure your Grace, that under theſe Difficulties, we will grant, to the beſt of our Power, ſuch effectual Supplies as may provide for the Debt of the Nation, and ſupport his Majeſty's Government with Honour.

By our Unanimity and Temper in all our Conſultations, we ſhall endeavour to render your Grace's Adminiſtration eaſy and honourable. And we hope, from a Repreſentation of a true State of this Kingdom, and of the Zeal, Loyalty and Affection of his Majeſty's Proteſtant Subjects of Ireland, by a Perſon of your Grace's Candor and Humanity, we ſhall be happy in the Continuance of his Majeſty's Royal Favour and Protection.
